HOOVER IN STRONG APPEAL FOR FARM VOTES

MAY DECIDE ELECTION IN FINAL DAYS

SENATOR BORAH FAVORS SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS

LATTER TO INCREASE TARIFF DUTIES UPON FARM PRODUCTS

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Oct. 27. — Herbert Hoover and his advisers decided today to make a vigorous appeal for the farm vote, which may decide the election, in the final days of the campaign.

This decision took the form today of a movement for a special session of congress to take up farm relief legislation, sponsored by Senator Borah of Idaho with the approval of Hoover.

After a conference with Hoover, the Idaho senator issued a statement urging a special session, unless some action is taken at the coming short session, which he said should pass measures:

1. Increasing tariff duties upon farm products.

2. Establishing a more satisfactory marketing system "so as to enable the farmers to market their products without the enormous expense which is now necessarily incurred."

3. Setting up a federal farm board.

"As I see it, we ought to have better protection for the farmers' products, we ought to have a better marketing system and we ought to have a farm board with authority and with funds to co-operate in disposing of the surplus," Borah said.

"The campaign has developed this question and these issues so that there need not be any unnecessary delay, and agriculture would get the benefit of it for the coming year. There is every reason for a special session and to my mind no sound reason against it."

The program Borah outlined embodies Hoover's farm relief proposals. A statement from his headquarters several days ago said a special session had been considered but no conclusion reached. The movement was left to Borah, who is the chief "stump" speaker for Hoover.

The Idaho senator returned here yesterday from his southern tour and immediately made plans for a final tour. He will return to the south for a speech at Asheville, N. C., next Monday or Tuesday, and then will pick up Governor Alfred E. Smith's trail in the east in the closing week speaking at Baltimore, Boston and Utica, New York. He did not announce the dates of these engagements.

Hoover, himself, will make his final campaign appeal for the farm vote in his St. Louis speech Nov. 2, which will be broadcast over a national radio hook-up.

Borah, who has been almost as prominent a figure in the campaign as the candidates themselves, was put on the grill soon after his return here by reporters representing democratic newspapers, who claimed his support of Hoover is "inconsistent" with his "progressive" stand upon issues in the senate.

He explained he was supporting Hoover chiefly because of the republican candidate's prohibition stand.

"I have not to my knowledge made any statement in the campaign in conflict with my position in the last ten years," he said. "I am trying to keep my record straight. I consider prohibition the dominant issue, and I said this two years before the campaign."

Turning to the water power issue, Borah said that Hoover had endorsed the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon Dam bill two years ago, according to a speech made by Senator Johnson, republican, California, at a luncheon. He could not recall the time and place of the luncheon. Smith's water power program was criticized by the Idaho senator.

"I believe that under the Smith plan the power trust would get profits on public money invested in generating plants," he said.

"It will never work in this country for the public to own the generating plant and the private company to own the transmitting system."

Washington, Oct. 27. — Herbert Hoover announced today he would, if elected, call a special session of congress to consider farm relief legislation if adequate action thereon

FRENCH MAIL SEAPLANE FALLS INTO MEDITERRANEAN

Paris, Oct. 27. —(UP)—A French mail seaplane bound from Algiers to Marseilles fell in the Mediterranean sea fifty miles off Algiers. Motor trouble brought the plane to a forced landing. Boats putting off from shore picked up the plane's crew of four, but heavy seas made it impossible to salvage the plane which was carried away from rescuers.

SEN. ROBINSON PLEASED WITH HIS RECEPTION

DEMOCRATIC VICE-PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE SPOKE AT DULUTH

STOPS SHORT TIME AT ST. PAUL ON HIS WAY TO DES MOINES

St. Paul, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Visibly pleased with his warm reception in Duluth Friday night, Senator Joseph T. Robinson, democratic vice-presidential candidate, stopped for several hours here today on his way to Des Moines.

The senator who because of the 22,000 miles covered in the present campaign has come to be known as the "Arkansas Traveler," said the merchants and bankers of the northwest were apparently swinging over to Governor Smith since they knew their prosperity depended upon the prosperity of the farmer.

"I have not the slightest doubt that Governor Smith will win the northwest," Robinson said. "The people in the wheat and corn belts know, since Herbert Hoover's New York speech, that they cannot look to him for relief."

"There is a general appreciation of the importance of the farm question in this section of the country which will be only slightly offset by misguided women, influenced by non-essentials, who are very active."

Before the most responsive audience yet encountered in his tour, Robinson declared in the Duluth armory last night that while it was true he praised Hoover during the floods down south last year he saw the candidate in a different light after he failed to help the flood sufferers.

After three hours here Robinson departed for Des Moines where he will speak tonight. He planned to make platform appearances at Fairbault and Albert Lea and indicated that he might make brief addresses in the southern Minnesota towns.

WILL ATTEMPT TO FLY TO BERMUDA

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Oct. 27. —(UP)—An attempt to fly to Bermuda will be started tomorrow morning from Port Washington, L. I., by Lieut. Harry W. Lyon, Captain W. A. Lancaster and Mrs. Keith Miller, it was announced today.

The trio will use a Wright whirlwind motor monoplane, which will carry 250 gallons of gasoline. The plane has been tried out here for several days and is reported in good condition for the 800-mile flight.

Lyon, who was navigator on the flight of the Southern Cross to Australia, said he expected no great difficulty in navigating a course that will lead to the tiny island.

is not taken in the coming short session.

"Hoover's statement said:

"The question of a special session of congress after March 4 in the event of the return of the republican party has been under discussion for some time."

"There are a number of questions, particularly agricultural relief which urgently require solution and which should not be delayed for a whole year."

"It is our most urgent economic problem. I should hope it can be dealt with at a regular session this fall and that a special session be avoided."

"If, however, that can not be accomplished, I would, if elected, not allow the matter to drift and would of necessity call an extra session so as to secure early constructive action."

60,000 Stale Eggs, Barrels of Spoiled Fruit, Enliven Election at Glasgow University Today

BALDWIN WINS ELECTION FOR LORD RECTOR

STUDENTS DIVIDED INTO FACTIONS SUPPORTING PRINCIPAL CANDIDATES

GRASS TRANSFORMED TO YELLOW AND BLACK MASS AS STUDENTS STRUGGLE

Glasgow, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Sixty thousand stale eggs, barrels of spoiled fruit, countless bags of soot and yellow ochre, thousands of codfish heads, crushed peas and other missiles enlivened election day at Glasgow University today.

Premier Stanley Baldwin, conservative candidate, won the triennial election for lord rector, but that was only an incident.

Students, divided into factions supporting the principal candidates, held the usual pre-voting "rag" and struggled for possession of the entrances to poll.

What with the ochre and the soot, the grass in front of the University was transformed into a yellow and black mass, strewn with malodorous refuse, in which the students fought, skidded and floundered.

TO BUILD 2 ZEPPELINS FOR NAVY DEPARTMENT

Akron, O., Oct. 27. —(UP)—President Paul W. Litchfield of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company announced today that the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation, a subsidiary of the tire firm, would build here the two dirigibles contracted for the navy department.

The super airplanes will cost nearly $8,000,000 and are of 6,500,000 cubic foot gas capacity. They will be, roughly, twice the size of the Graf Zeppelin.

FUNERAL RITES FOR BRIG. GEN. McQUIGG

Cleveland, O., Oct. 27. —(UP)—Funeral services were being arranged today for Brigadier General John R. McQuigg, former national commander of the American Legion, who died at his home here last night. He was 62 years old. McQuigg, who was national commander of the Legion in 1925, had been ill more than a year.

SENATOR NORRIS TO SPEAK FOR SMITH AT OMAHA

HAS COMPLETED CAMPAIGN FOR PROGRESSIVE SENATORS IN 5 STATES

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 27. —(UP)—Senator George W. Norris was here today prepared to deliver his first speech in behalf of Gov. Alfred E. Smith tonight in the municipal auditorium. He has just completed a campaign for progressive senators in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington.

Gov. Smith's stand on water power, farm relief and the Nicaraguan matter won him to the democratic cause, Norris said.

"Also I am convinced that Hoover is eminently satisfactory to the power trusts," he said. "I like Smith's stand on the Nicaraguan question."

"The first steps to make prohibition effective is to take enforcement of it out of politics. It is being used by unscrupulous politicians who demand to say who shall be appointed to enforce the law. Some of these politicians, I am told, are in league with bootleggers."

Norris has not definitely decided whether he will accept an invitation to speak at Minneapolis, he said.

LATEST DEATH TOLL IN WRECK IN RUMANIA

2 PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDED AT RECEA. 60 PEOPLE KILLED

47 SERIOUSLY INJURED. 27 OF DEAD IDENTIFIED AS RUMANIANS

London, Oct. 27. —(UP)—The latest death toll in the wreck of two passenger trains at Recea, Rumania, yesterday was placed at 60 today in a dispatch to the Daily News from Vienna.

The newspaper said 47 persons were seriously injured. Twenty-seven of the dead have been identified as Rumanians.

Bucharest, Rumania, Oct. 27. —All employees of the Recea railway station were under arrest today in connection with the train wreck there yesterday.

Reports gathered from passengers on the fast Simplon Oriente Express when it ran through an open switch and crashed into another passenger train, apparently established the fact that there were no employees at the station at the time of the wreck.

Relief workers still were on duty today. Most of the bodies of victims were found in two coaches of the local passenger train into which the Express crashed. The two coaches were splintered. A mail and baggage car were demolished and a sleeping coach was hurled from the track.

DR. ALBERT SCHNEIDER FOUND DEAD UNDER MYSTERY CONDITIONS

Portland, Ore., Oct. 27. —(UP)—Dr. Albert Schneider, professor of criminology at University of California, dean of the North Pacific College of Pharmacy here, and one of the most widely known criminologists in the country, was found dead under mysterious circumstances here today.

Dr. Schneider's body was found standing and leaning against the wall of a building this morning by a milk truck driver.

6 KILLED WHEN CAR PLUNGES DOWN MOUNTAIN

Richmond, Calif., Oct. 27. —(UP)—Reports to the coroner's office here early today said that six persons were killed near Vellejo when their automobile careened off the highway and plunged 200 feet down the side of a mountain. The driver of the automobile was believed to have been E. B. Hussey, Berkeley. The other victims were unidentified women.

STUDENTS FACE DISCIPLINE BECAUSE OF THEIR DRINKING

Minneapolis, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Six University of Minnesota students today faced disciplinary action for drinking.

The students were arrested in an apartment here Friday night by police. Martin Tripp, owner of the apartment, was also arrested and a supply of alleged liquor confiscated.

What action will be taken against the unnamed students was not known.

SMITH CARRIES CAMPAIGN INTO PENNSYLVANIA

NOT A SINGLE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE IN 50 YEARS SCORED THERE BEFORE

SMITH'S MANAGERS THINK HE HAS A CHANCE THERE THIS YEAR

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith donned his brown derby today to carry his presidential campaign into the heart of Pennsylvania, a strong republican state.

Electoral votes have been counted there for fifty years and not a single democratic candidate has received one of them, but Smith's managers and local Pennsylvania leaders have told him that this year he has the chance to do what democrats before always have considered impossible.

His special train will leave here at 1:30 P. M. EST, arriving in Camden, N. J., across the Delaware river from Philadelphia at 3:50 P. M. Through Camden, across the new bridge, to his hotel in the city of the republican leader, William S. Vare, the democratic presidential nominee will parade at the head of a motor caravan.

Democratic leaders of Camden and Philadelphia have warned him to expect another demonstration like the wild ones he received in Boston, Providence and Hartford.

The governor spent this morning polishing up the speech he is to deliver over a national radio network from Philadelphia tonight, starting at 8 P. M. EST. It is said to be another broadside against the personal campaign of his republican opponent, Herbert Hoover, and the leaders associated with Hoover.

The Philadelphia trip takes the governor into the final stage of his presidential fight. Before he returns to New York Tuesday he will visit Baltimore for a parade and speech Monday. The swift thrust at Pennsylvania and Maryland was decided upon by the democrats because of favorable reports from the former state and some unfavorable indications from the latter.

The anti-prohibition element is reported strong in the industrial centers of Pennsylvania, and according to democratic sources the republican party has not fully recovered from the old Vare-Mellon fight.

Pennsylvania is the second strongest electoral state, with 38 votes compared to New York's 45. The republican majority there in the 1924 national election was 992,289.

TWO MOTHERS AND NEW-BORN BABIES SAVED FROM FIRE

Detroit, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Two mothers and their newly-born babies were among 13 patients who were rescued from a fire which gutted Lincoln hospital today.

Mrs. Helen Hansel and her one-day old daughter, and Mrs. Helen Blake and a six-day old daughter, were carried out of the hospital's maternity ward on improvised stretchers. Physicians said the mothers both were injured.

Two policemen, scouting in an automobile, discovered the fire. Firemen said it had started in the boiler room, burned its way across a 10-foot passage and worked up three stories to the roof when discovered.

The flames were extinguished. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

FLIGHT TO MIDWEST IS ABANDONED

WORKMEN BUSY THEMSELVES ABOUT GIANT AIR LINER

IN READINESS FOR HER TAKE-OFF MONDAY. WEATHER PERMITTING

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 27. —(UP)—The trans-Atlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin was being groomed today for her westbound flight to Friedrichshafen, Germany.

Following the announcement by Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the airship, that the proposed mid-western flight of the Zeppelin was cancelled, workmen busied themselves about the giant air liner to have her in readiness for a take-off Monday, if weather conditions permit.

Dr. Eckener, Ernst A. Lehman, second in command, and other officers of the ship were in New York at a hotel where they planned to stay until Sunday noon. Hans Von Schiller, navigating officer, was left in command of the dirigible as ranking officer on board, here.

Von Schiller said the return air voyage to Germany would be made by way of the great circle course. If the airship cruises with the anticipated favorable tail-wind pushing her she should reach the home harbor 50 or 60 hours after leaving here, Von Schiller said.

"With a favorable wind, we can make nearly 90 miles an hour for most of the way," Von Schiller added. "We hope of course that we will not have any such bad luck as we had coming over."

"The next trip to America probably will be made a month or so after we land in Germany. We have to be back in Berlin for the aeronautic reception planned there. We had been asked to be there by Oct. 27 (today)."

Dr. Eckener, in announcing the necessity of abandoning the mid-western flight of the Graf Zeppelin, was extremely regretful that he had been unable to show the great dirigible to the people in that area.

Government Operation of Muscle Shoals Shows Net Profit

Washington, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Government operation of Muscle Shoals power plant has shown a net operating profit of $1,941,856.31 since 1925, though only 27 per cent of the project's capacity is now being utilized, according to a bulletin issued today by the National Popular Government league.

The bulletin quotes from the balance sheet prepared by U. S. army engineers, who have been operating the Wilson dam since Sept. 12, 1925, to substantiate its contentions that government operation of power projects would provide cheaper electricity.

Retention of Muscle Shoals by the government has been of financial advantage to the U. S. treasury, the league said, declaring that the best private bid received would have netted an annual rental of $600,000 for the first six years.

MARATHON DANCER RECOVERING SLOWLY

Minneapolis, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Miss Alyce Peterson, marathon dancer, feared dying Friday, today was considered winning her fight for life.

Two blood transfusions at Ellet hospital were said to have strengthened Miss Peterson to such an extent that physicians hoped for her recovery.

Miss Peterson was said to have primary peritonitis, possibly induced by participation in a marathon dance here.

Seek Extradition of Henry M. Blackmer From French Territory

Paris, Oct. 27. —(UP)—Papers seeking the extradition of Henry M. Blackmer, missing witness in the Teapot Dome case in the United States, were turned over to the ministry of justice by the foreign office today.

The papers had been pigeonholed in the foreign office for three months.

"---So Help You God"

As Thomas Ryan, veteran dry agent, was about to take the witness stand in Chicago court after repeating oath to tell the truth, and nothing but the truth, he fell forward on his face, grievously wounded. No shot was heard, no discharged guns found in locked courtroom. The above telephoned photo shows

Edwin K. Walker, prohibition commissioner (gray-haired man facing camera at left) and others in same positions as when Ryan was mysteriously shot. Bullet entered dry agent's back and penetrated abdomen. He has a fighting chance for life.

The swift thrust at Pennsylvania and Maryland was decided upon by the democrats because of favorable reports from the former state and some unfavorable indications from the latter.

The anti-prohibition element is reported strong in the industrial centers of Pennsylvania, and according to democratic sources the republican party has not fully recovered from the old Vire-Mellon fight.

Pennsylvania is the second strongest electoral state, with 33 votes compared to New York's 45. The republican majority there in the 1924 national election was 992,289.

TWO MOTHERS AND NEW-BORN BABIES SAVED FROM FIRE

Detroit, Oct. 27. —(U.P.)—Two mothers and their newly-born babies were among 13 patients who were rescued from a fire which gutted Lincoln hospital today.

Mrs. Helen Hansel and her one-day old daughter, and Mrs. Helen Blake and a six-day old daughter, were carried out of the hospital's maternity ward on improvised stretchers. Physicians said the mothers both were injured.

Two policemen, scouting in an automobile, discovered the fire. Firemen said it had started in the boiler room, burned its way across a 10-foot passage and worked up three stories to the roof when discovered.

The flames were extinguished. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

FLIGHT TO MIDWEST IS ABANDONED

WORKMEN BUSY THEMSELVES ABOUT GIANT AIR LINER

IN READINESS FOR HER TAKE-OFF MONDAY. WEATHER PERMITTING

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 27. —(U.P.)—The trans-Atlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin was being groomed today for her westbound flight to Friedrichshafen, Germany.

Following the announcement by Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the airship, that the proposed mid-western flight of the Zeppelin was cancelled, workmen busied themselves about the giant air liner to have her in readiness for a take-off Monday, if weather conditions permit.

Dr. Eckener, Ernst A. Lehman, second in command, and other officers of the ship were in New York at a hotel where they planned to stay until Sunday noon. Hans Von Schiller, navigating officer, was left in command of the dirigible as ranking officer on board, here.

Von Schiller said the return air voyage to Germany would be made by way of the great circle course. If the airship cruises with the anticipated favorable tail-wind pushing her she should reach the home hangar 50 or 60 hours after leaving here, Von Schiller said.

"With a favorable wind, we can make nearly 90 miles an hour for most of the way," Von Schiller added. "We hope of course that we will not have any such bad luck as we had coming over."

"The next trip to America probably will be made a month or so after we land in Germany. We have to be back in Berlin for the aeronautic reception planned there. We had been asked to be there by Oct. 27 (today)."

Dr. Eckener, in announcing the necessity of abandoning the mid-western flight of the Graf Zeppelin, was extremely regretful that he had been unable to show the great dirigible to the people in that area.

Government Operation of Muscle Shoals Shows Net Profit

Washington, Oct. 27. —(U.P.)—Government operation of Muscle Shoals power plant has shown a net operating profit of $1,941,856.31 since 1925, though only 27 per cent of the project's capacity is now being utilized, according to a bulletin issued today by the National Popular Government league.

The bulletin quotes from the balance sheet prepared by U. S. army engineers, who have been operating the Wilson dam since Sept. 12, 1925, to substantiate its contentions that government operation of power projects would provide cheaper electricity.

Retention of Muscle Shoals by the government has been of financial advantage to the U. S. treasury, the league said, declaring that the best private bid received would have netted an annual rental of $600,000 for the first six years.

MARATHON DANCER RECOVERING SLOWLY

Minneapolis, Oct. 27. —(U.P.)—Miss Alyce Peterson, marathon dancer, feared dying Friday, today was considered winning her fight for life.

Two blood transfusions at Ellet hospital were said to have strengthened Miss Peterson to such an extent that physicians hoped for her recovery.

Miss Peterson was said to have primary peritonitis, possibly induced by participation in a marathon dance here.

Seek Extradition of Henry M. Blackmer From French Territory

Paris, Oct. 27. —(U.P.)—Papers seeking the extradition of Henry M. Blackmer, missing witness in the Teapot Dome case in the United States, were turned over to the ministry of justice by the foreign office today.

The papers had been pigeonholed in the foreign office for three months.

As Thomas Ryan, veteran dry agent, was about to take the witness stand in Chicago court after repeating oath to tell the truth, and nothing but the truth, he fell forward on his face, grievously wounded. No shot was heard, no discharged guns found in locked courtroom. The above telephoned photo shows

T. J. Andrews came down today from Bemidji, his wife being able to be moved from the hospital.

A special sleeper will be attached to the midnight train Friday night for the accommodation of those who expect to go to Minneapolis to see the big Michigan-Minnesota game. It is thought that nearly 75 will go down from Aitkin and Brainerd. The fact that Captain Rogers of the Minnesota team is from Aitkin makes the game especially interesting to Aitkinites.

F. C. Butts left this afternoon for Wadena and other points west on business.

The barbers bowling team was relegated to the rear last evening in the third and final contest with the clerks team. This was the deciding game for the championship and the clerks won out by 139 pins. The following composed the teams: Clerks—S. E. Engbretson, J. P. Early, A. M. Johnson, Floyd Brown and J. C. Smallwood; Barbers—J. N. Omen, Frank Whitford, Clarence Whitford, C. E. Stallman and Peter Cardel.

Mrs. Treglawney left this afternoon for St. Paul for a short visit.

Erick Peterson's have moved to Brainerd, where they have taken up their residence on South Broadway. Farmers of this vicinity have made considerable improvements in their places this year. Arthur Peterson put up a silo, Charles Peterson built a barn, G. F. Edquist painted his house, Martin Olson plastered his house, Clarence Norgard moved his buildings and built a new barn, and Ole Norgard has been moving and repairing buildings.

Charles Isle has been busy repairing roads which were damaged greatly by the recent heavy rains.

The Elde brothers were stuck with their threshing outfit on the hills north of Edquist's, and had to have teams pull them out.

Some Iowa men were here trying to rent a farm a short time ago, but were unsuccessful.

Japan's Government

Japan's constitutional government was promulgated in 1889, and the first parliament was convened in accordance with the constitution in 1890.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ACTIVITIES

The various Camp Fire groups had a joint Halloween party Friday evening in the basement of the court house. More than 90 girls were present, most of them in costume. There were ghosts, witches, demons, fairies, brownies, clowns and gypsies. One old grandmother ably chaperoned the party. Each group had planned some game or stunt. Flood-curdling ghosts stories were told and magic fortunes read. Pop corn and apples were served.

The Waditaka group has had a count book contest. Prizes were offered for the most cleverly written and decorated count books. Mae McQuillan won first prize and Alice Little second.

The Camp fire members of the Owawensa group at the Harrison school are the following:

Ione Cass.
Marcella Favrou.
Elsie Luckenback.
Abbie Casey.
Lillie Casey.
Virginia Lindberg.
Margaret Gustafson.
Vannetta Backman.
Verena Backman.
Alice Selen.
Delrose Reike.
Gladys Johnson.
Marion Falconer.
Evelyn Potter.
Eleanora Kukko.
Frances Ludwig.
Violet Ratari.
Ramona Twist.
Catherine Dahlson.

Every girl in the Owawensa group has her Camp Fire name and each one is working to live up to the meaning of it. Most of the girls also have their symbols. Twelve of the girls are woodgatherers and are working for their next rank.

The Blue Birds of the Harrison school accompanied by their guardian Mary Hughey, hiked to Stony Brook last Saturday afternoon. They found many kinds of leaves and some flowers. They played games among the pines and went home tired and happy. They will have a Halloween party Monday, October 29, after school. Genevieve Larson has joined the Blue Bird group.

The Ohtitaya Camp Fire are entering an attendance contest with the other groups. The Ohtitaya group is entering with the idea of winning.

Wins Millions!

An old time "desert rat," George Campbell Carson (above), who will reap a reward of millions for smelting process he invented as result of refusal of United States Supreme Court to review decision of lower court ordering Anaconda Copper Company to pay royalties of roughly $20,000,000. The legal battle cost $300,000 which was provided by Carson's friends.

11 PERSONS HELD HELD FOR TRIAL IN OBREGON CASE

TORAL AND MOTHER SUPERIOR TO BE TRIED SEPARATELY

16 PERSONS ORIGINALLY ARRESTED, 5 HAVE BEEN DISCHARGED

Mexico City, Oct. 27. — (UP) — Eleven persons are now held for trial in connection with the death of General Alvaro Obregon, the president-elect.

Jose De Leon Toral, the confessed assassin, and Mother Superior Concepcion, who is charged with being the intellectual author, will be tried separately from the other nine.

Sixteen persons originally were arrested but five have been discharged. The most recently discharged were Jose Fina Acevedo Dela Llaka, sister of the Mother Superior and Guillermo Amor. They were released last night.

Legal Tender

NAVY DAY

THE observance of Navy Day on October 27 has been of value in fostering a better understanding of the Navy by the American people. That the Navy is our first line of defense, the support of our foreign policies, the safeguard of our foreign trade and an effective assurance of continued peace are facts that are becoming better known.

This year on Navy Day we would emphasize the unity of the Navy with every interest and activity of the national life. It is good for the people to stop a moment and consider what has caused the Nation's prosperity and greatness. The Navy has played no small part in the progress of the United States to its present state of influence. It is well to take thought that the Navy, properly maintained, is an agent of stability in a troubled world. It carries no threat but it lends authority to America's voice speaking for altruism, justice and law.

Leadership is to the strong—and until the time comes when the only security needed by mankind shall rest in the hearts of men and nations we should maintain ourselves as strong as any.

In a government such as ours, government is by public opinion, and public opinion in order to be sound must be informed. The American people are the stockholders of the Navy, and whatever fosters a better understanding of the Navy, its purposes, its activities, its needs and its deficiencies makes for better government.

The Navy is important to every element in the community. As the protector of our foreign commerce it stands watch over nearly one-fifth of all our agricultural products, the proportion exported annually. Manufacturers and laborers in manufacturing plants have long since begun to realize that our export trade is the margin of our prosperity; and we all know that behind the bulwark of our Navy we are free to work out our destiny without interference from outside forces.

As stated by T. Douglas Robinson, Acting Secretary of the Navy, it is well also to recall that our Navy heartily approves the principle of limitation of armaments by international agreement and at the same time we should give due weight to the counsel of naval advisers urging us to reject as absurd the fatuity of disarmament by example.

BUTTER AND BRASS

MINNESOTA farmers in 1927 received $113,613,474 for butter fat, greatest of all their crops in aggregate cash value. That was an increase of more than twelve million dollars over the previous year. The average price per pound was 51.21 cents, or nearly five cents more than the average of 1926, says the Minneapolis Journal.

Here was a crop that sold for a higher price per unit in the face of a marked increase in production. Here was a crop that put twelve million more real dollars into the pockets of Minnesota farmers than had been realized from the same source the previous year, in the face of the fact that butter is produced in Denmark at a cost of thirteen cents under production costs in Minnesota, and in New Zealand at a cost twenty-four to twenty-eight cents under; and in the face of the fact that the water freight rate from New Zealand to New York is less than the rail freight rates from some points in Minnesota to New York.

What made this gain possible? Republican tariff policy, and nothing else. The Democrats, when last they had a chance, put milk and cream on the free list, and fixed the butter tariff at only two and one-half cents a pound. The Republicans, when next they had the chance, raised the butter tariff to eight cents a pound, in the Fordney-McCumber Act, and when this later proved inadequate, Calvin Coolidge, Republican President, raised it to twelve cents a pound, the maximum increase permitted him by law.

Butter fat is Minnesota's most important farm crop. Minnesota farmers increased the production of their most important crop last year. Yet Minnesota farmers receive a higher price per pound for that crop than they had received for the lower production of the previous year. They made this gain because of what had been done for them by a Republican Congress and a Republican President.

And yet the Hitchcocks and the Pecks and the Murphys and the Reeds have the effrontery to tell the farmers of Minnesota that a Republican Congress and a Republican President have done nothing for them, and that these farmers would fare better, if left to the mercies of a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President; that they would do well to vote into power a party which, in its 1928 platform, pledges itself to enact a tariff law that will permit "effective competition," presumably so the massed consumers of New York and other Eastern cities may have their butter at a lower price, regardless of what befalls the Minnesota dairyman, striving futilely to compete with the New Zealander whose production costs are less than half his own.

YELLOWSTONE PARK TRAVEL INCREASES

FIGURES compiled in the office of E. E. Nelson, passenger traffic manager of the Northern Pacific, show that 230,984 persons traveled to Yellowstone National Park last summer, as compared with 200,825 in the 1927 season, an increase of 15 per cent. The Northern Pacific-Burlington Route gateways handled 50 per cent of the total entrance rail travel. Arriving by rail at the Gardiner, Cody and Bozeman gateways were 20,844 passengers, while at all other park gateways the rail arrivals numbered 20,853 passengers.

The popularity of the "In Gardiner-Out Cody" tours gained in the last season.

Announcement is made that plans for 1929 provide for five tours leaving the Twin Cities on July 6, July 13, July 27, August 10 and August 17. In addition, Mr. Nelson said, two Twin City tours will be operated to Alaska.

IT WILL SOON BE OVER

ONLY two weeks until the American people will return to a state of sense and sanity, when the liars and whisperers and tattlers of silly tales will be relegated to oblivion for another three and one-half years. A week after election many people will wonder why they ever believed some of the idiotic stories voiced by campaign speakers, and about which they got quite excited at the time. This election fever seems to send judgment to the sewer, and padlocks good fellowship and tolerance.—St. Cloud Journal.

Jewel Has Image

In Ceylon is the wonderful elephant pearl, which has been examined and reported authentic by Dr. Joseph Pearson, director of the Colombo museum. The jewel weighs 12 carats, has a creamy-golden hue, and is 2,000 years old. When the pearl was examined under a microscope, it was found to have a basis of ivory upon which one could see a perfect form of a white elephant.

Jewel Has Image

In Ceylon is the wonderful elephant pearl, which has been examined and reported authentic by Dr. Joseph Pearson, director of the Colombo museum. The jewel weighs 12 carats, has a creamy-golden hue, and is 2,000 years old. When the pearl was examined under a microscope, it was found to have a basis of ivory upon which one could see a perfect form of a white elephant.

GAME HAS BEARING ON CHAMPIONSHIP

MAY DECIDE THE ALL-AMERICAN FULLBACK CHOICE OF 1928

"CHARGING CHEROKEE" FACES "PULVERIZING POLE" IN CLASH

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 27.—(UP)—With a threat of rain in the air and the ground slippery from last night's rain, the undefeated football teams of the Universities of Iowa and Minnesota took the field here today.

A homecoming crowd of 30,000 packed Iowa Field to capacity as the battle of the fullbacks, McLain of Iowa and Nagurski of Minnesota, began.

The teams were evenly matched and there was little talk of overwhelming victory by rooters in either camp.

The line-ups:
Iowa—Moore, le; Schleusner, lt; Westra, lg; Brown, c; Roberts, rg; Jensen, rt; Reedquist, re; Armil, qb; Farroh, lb; Glasgow, rb; McLain, fb.

Minnesota—Haycraft, le; Johnson, lt; Pulkrabek, lg; Kakela, c; Gibson, rg; Ukkelberg, rt; Tanner, re; Hovde, qb; Burdick, lb; Brockmeyer, rb; Nagurski, fb.

Iowa won the toss and chose to defend the north goal. Minnesota elected to kick off. Brockmeyer kicked off to Glasgow, who caught the ball on the 20-yard line and returned it to the 35-yard line. Minnesota man was laid out on the play. Minnesota took time out.

Trainer Dave Woodward attended to the athlete. The injured player was completely out. It was Lawrence Johnson, Minnesota's tackle. Johnson was carried off the field. Glasgow made 5 yards in two plays. McLain failed to gain at right tackle. McLain punted, the ball rolling over the Minnesota goal line. Minnesota's ball on their 20-yard line. Brockmeyer made two yards. Play was recalled. Iowa penalized five yards for offside. Hovde made 7 yards and first down on Minnesota's 34-yard line. Burdick in for Johnson. Hovde made one yard. Brockmeyer made two but the play was recalled. Iowa was penalized five yards for offside. Hovde added two yards off Iowa's left tackle. Brockmeyer came off Iowa's right end for first down on the 48-yard line. A forward pass failed. Hovde made two yards off Iowa's left end. Brockmeyer punted to Glasgow who made a fair catch on Iowa's 20-yard line. Minnesota penalized 15 yards for up-setting Glasgow after he signalled for a fair catch. Iowa's ball on their 33-yard line. Glasgow made two yards. McLain was thrown for a half-yard loss at Minnesota's right tackle. McLain punted, the ball going out of bounds on Minnesota's 22-yard line. Hovde came through for three yards at Iowa's left tackle. Nagurski plunged through for 2 yards. Brockmeyer punted to McLain on Iowa's 40-yard line. He was downed in his tracks. Glasgow came through left tackle for two yards, but the play was recalled, both teams being offside. Glasgow then plunged through for 3 yards. Glasgow made a quick kick but Hovde got the ball on Minnesota's 15-yard line and returned it 5 yards. Brockmeyer immediately punted to Glasgow who returned the ball to Minnesota's 35-yard line, a return of about 10 yards. McLain plunged in the center of the line for one-half yard. Glasgow made four yards at Minnesota's right tackle. A forward pass, Glasgow to Armil, put the ball on Minnesota's 20-yard line. The pass gained about 11 yards. It was a short pass, Glasgow first making a long run at Minnesota's left end and not throwing the ball until he had almost reached the side line. McLain lost a half yard at Minnesota's right tackle. Pass thrown by Glasgow went over the goal line. Minnesota's ball on the 20-yard line. Brockmeyer came through for five yards. Hovde made two yards at left tackle. Brockmeyer made one yard. End of first quarter. Minnesota's ball, fourth down on her own 28-yard line. Two yards to go. Score: Iowa, 0; Minnesota, 0.

Fish Coloration

Protective coloration is well developed in fishes. Fish that come out of deep water with sandy or rocky bottoms are silvery in color. Those that come from mud bottom or from dark waters are dark in color. Young fry in hatcheries quickly assume the color of their surroundings. Those that are placed in white troughs become almost transparent.

SECOND QUARTER

Brockmeyer punted to Glasgow on Iowa's 26-yard line. McLain fought his way through for 7 yards, carrying four Gophers with him. Glasgow made one yard at right end. McLain punted to Hovde on Minnesota's 36-yard line. He slipped and fell as he caught the ball. Brockmeyer immediately returned the punt, the ball going over Iowa's goal line for a touchback. Iowa's ball on the 20-yard line. On a take punt Armil carried the ball but failed to gain. Glasgow failed to gain at Minnesota's left end. McLain punted to Hovde, who made a fair catch on Iowa's 41-yard line. A long forward pass was incomplete. Hovde failed to gain. A pass, Hovde to Burdick, made 9 yards. Brockmeyer made one yard and first down on Iowa's 31-yard line. Hovde went through for 9 yards. On a double pass, Brockmeyer to Hovde, the latter ran to Iowa's 10-yard line. Carlson went in for Moore at left end for Iowa. Brockmeyer made two yards. Brockmeyer went through left guard for 5 yards. Brockmeyer slipped and fell on a try at Iowa's right end. No gain. A forward pass failed. Iowa's ball on their 4-yard line.

McLain punted from back of his goal line to Hovde who made a fair catch on Iowa's 24-yard line. A forward pass, Brockmeyer to Hovde, gained one yard. Nagurski plunged through for 11 yards. First down on Iowa's 11-yard line. Hovde made one yard. Brockmeyer and Hovde each added one. A forward pass failed. Iowa's ball on downs on her own 4-yard line. McLain punted to Iowa's 40-yard line. Pharnum went in for Hovde. Kirk went in for Brockmeyer. Minnesota was penalized 5 yards. A forward pass, Nagurski to Kirk, failed and it was Iowa's ball on their own 41-yard line. Jensenoid went in for Armil. Pape went in for Glasgow. Pape made one yard. McLain went through for one yard. McLain went through for 5 yards. McLain punted to Kirk on Minnesota's 25-yard line and he returned it one yard. Kirk made one yard. Kirk failed to gain at Iowa's right end. End second quarter. Score: Iowa, 0; Minnesota, 0.

MELLON DENIES TWO REPORTS OF HIS 'DEATH'

Washington, Oct. 27.—(UP)—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon "died" twice yesterday.

Rumors, which apparently spread all over the country, said Mellon had fallen dead in his office. Later the report had him committing suicide and after that was denied it was reported that he was seriously ill.

Mellon worked all day at his office and said he never felt better.

The famous ride made by Theodore Roosevelt was on January 13, 1900, from Washington to Warrenton, Va., and return. The distance was 104 miles. Relays of horses were ready at Fairfax courthouse, a farmhouse near Mill Run and Buckland, going and returning.

Despised Class

The alien government of Palestine, whether of Rome or its deputy princes, the Herods, collected its taxes and customs through speculators who bought up the right of collecting the revenue (publicum) for their own advantage. While these men were often natives, they were classed by the Jews not only with the social outcasts, but also with the heathen, as if outside of Israel altogether.

TEAMS PLAY EVEN UP BALL; FORWARD PASS NETS COUNT

LOCALS MATCH STRENGTH WITH HIGHLY RATED OPPONENTS; 5,000 SEE CLASSIC

GABIOU, FULLER, HALVORSON AND WISE HOLD LIMELIGHT IN BALL CARRYING

Brainerd high school matched football strength and strategy on even terms with the highly rated Tech-High at St. Cloud yesterday, but came out behind by the count of 6 to 0 as St. Cloud came through in the final quarter to complete a short forward pass and carry the ball over the line from the 15-yard line for the only touchdown of the game.

It was a hard game to lose. After playing even up ball for three and a half quarters the Techs grabbed the break that gave them victory to complete the success of their homecoming celebration. A fumble in the center of the field was snapped up by Cheerhart who carried it down to within 15 yards of the Brainerd goal line where Doan threw a short pass to Reinhardt who carried it over.

The game was not spectacular. The teams were too evenly matched for that. The Techs found the Brainerd tackles harder hitters than any they have yet met this year. Both teams failed to make consistent gains with the result that punting was frequent.

Gabiou, Fuller, Halvorson and Wise carried the ball on the majority of the plays for Brainerd, receiving beautiful running interference. Brainerd's chances to tally came in the third quarter when the team on a succession of end runs and passes carried the ball down to within four yards of the Tech goal. The St. Cloud line, however, held like a wall at that point and Brainerd lost on downs when it failed to complete a pass.

Gabiou was put into the game a few minutes before the first half ended and in spite of his injuries from previous games this year, he showed flashy style. Wise's running proved sensational on several occasions. At one time he downed a St. Cloud man, overcoming a ten-foot lead, preventing a touchdown.

Five thousand people saw the game and sat on the edge of their seats as the teams battled through, waiting for a single break that would decide the outcome of the game.

YALE and the Army hook up this afternoon in one of the important games of the 1928 season. Last year Eli trimmed the West Pointers, 10-6, and it was the only setback suffered by the Cadets during a rather long season that was well sprinkled with some keen opposition. This year despite the loss of Wilson Dorn, Harbold and a few almost unreplaceable, Biff Jones is confident that the Army will again finish well up in front.

The loss of Dorn and Harbold, the two ends who dazzled on last year's team, is keenly felt at the Point and early in the season the development of two players to follow in the footsteps of the crack wing-men was one of the big problems confronting Biff Jones and Captain Sasser, the end coach up where the Hudson splashes against the granite base of Storm King. Put Messinger, a rangy player, has apparently helped solve the problem at one flank and Jones and Sasser have other end timber on which to depend.

Bud Sprague, the sandy-haired boy from Texas, is captaining the team this year from left tackle and he seems to be functioning in one piece despite injuries which handicapped him most of last season. The Army line is being built up around Bud and Perry, the right tackle and a Kentuckian. It will be recalled that twice last year Perry put his big frame between Navy ball carriers and the Army goal line. Perry's work made him a member of many of the All-American elevens last year and in the early games this fall he has been responsible for breaking up a lot of carefully planned plays.

From tackle to tackle Jones has a solid wall which is apt to withstand the ramming of the opposition. They're all big rugged fellows and Biff has been devoting much of his time to building up his reserve or secondary defense.

In the backfield Jones has little to worry about, even in the face of being forced to get along without the services of Harry Wilson who had grown to mean to the Army what corned beef means to cabbage.

Jones and the Army still have Christian Cagle, the red-headed tornado whose undulating hips would drive a South Sea hula-hula dancer to an early death. Cagle will undoubtedly bear the brunt of the heavy ground gaining and once free of the forward wall, the red head can wiggle his hips past a lot of tacklers. Watch Cagle on the open field running this fall. When it comes to smashing the line Jones has Murrell, the burly Minnesotan, who was responsible for cracking the Navy wall so consistently last fall. Young Nave will do most of the quarterbacking for the Army and from a long list of capable players Biff will select a few men to fill in and again have a typical Army backfield.

After today's struggle with Yale at New Haven, the Army still has a men-sized schedule to fulfill. Beside meeting De Pauw and Carleton the Cadets are scheduled to train their guns against such worth while foes as Nebraska, Notre Dame and Stanford. Those three games alone look like a fairly heavy schedule.

The Nebraska tilt will be decided at West Point with the game against the Irish and the Pacific Coast aggregation both slated to be decided in New York City. The West Pointers beat Notre Dame last year but there is little hope on the comparative strength of the Army against either Nebraska or Stanford.

The Stanford struggle is to be put on December 1 which is rather the fog end of the playing season but the new fuss with the West Coast is already attracting considerable attention and it's a cinch a lot of radios will be tuned in on the meeting.

The Sprague-captained, Jones-coached Army eleven has ordered bunch of chores yet to be done.

Brockmeyer came off Iowa's right end for first down on the 48-yard line. A forward pass failed. Hovde made two yards off Iowa's left end. Brockmeyer punted to Glasgow who made a fair catch on Iowa's 20-yard line. Minnesota penalized 15 yards for up-setting Glasgow after he signalled for a fair catch. Iowa's ball on their 33-yard line. Glasgow made two yards. McLain was thrown for a half-yard loss at Minnesota's right tackle. McLain punted, the ball going out of bounds on Minnesota's 22-yard line. Hovde came through for three yards at Iowa's left tackle. Nagurski plunged through for 2 yards. Brockmeyer punted to McLain on Iowa's 40-yard line. He was downed in his tracks. Glasgow came through left tackle for two yards, but the play was recalled, both teams being offside. Glasgow then plunged through for 3 yards. Glasgow made a quick kick but Hovde got the ball on Minnesota's 15-yard line and returned it 5 yards. Brockmeyer immediately punted to Glasgow who returned the ball to Minnesota's 35-yard line, a return of about 10 yards. McLain plunged in the center of the line for one-half yard. Glasgow made four yards at Minnesota's right tackle. A forward pass, Glasgow to Armil, put the ball on Minnesota's 20-yard line. The pass gained about 11 yards. It was a short pass, Glasgow first making a long run at Minnesota's left end and not throwing the ball until he had almost reached the side line. McLain lost a half yard at Minnesota's right tackle. Pass thrown by Glasgow went over the goal line. Minnesota's ball on the 20-yard line. Brockmeyer came through for five yards. Hovde made two yards at left tackle. Brockmeyer made one yard. End of first quarter. Minnesota's ball, fourth down on her own 28-yard line. Two yards to go. Score: Iowa, 0; Minnesota, 0.

Fish Coloration

Protective coloration is well developed in fishes. Fish that come out of deep water with sandy or rocky bottoms are silvery in color. Those that come from mud bottom or from dark waters are dark in color. Young fry in hatcheries quickly assume the color of their surroundings. Those that are placed in white troughs become almost transparent.

Brainerd high school matched football strength and strategy on even terms with the highly rated Tech-High at St. Cloud yesterday, but came out behind by the count of 6 to 0 as St. Cloud came through in the final quarter to complete a short forward pass and carry the ball over the line from the 15-yard line for the only touchdown of the game.

It was a hard game to lose. After playing even up ball for three and a half quarters the Techs grabbed the break that gave them victory to complete the success of their homecoming celebration. A fumble in the center of the field was snapped up by Cheerhart who carried it down to within 15 yards of the Brainerd goal line where Doan threw a short pass to Reinhardt who carried it over.

The game was not spectacular. The teams were too evenly matched for that. The Techs found the Brainerd tackles harder hitters than any they have yet met this year. Both teams failed to make consistent gains with the result that punting was frequent.

Gabiau, Fuller, Halvorson and Wise carried the ball on the majority of the plays for Brainerd, receiving beautiful running interference. Brainerd's chances to tally came in the third quarter when the team on a succession of end runs and passes carried the ball down to within four yards of the Tech goal. The St. Cloud line, however, held like a wall at that point and Brainerd lost on downs when it failed to complete a pass.

Gabiau was put into the game a few minutes before the first half ended and in spite of his injuries from previous games this year, he showed flashy style. Wise's running proved sensational on several occasions. At one time he downed a St. Cloud man, overcoming a ten-foot lead, preventing a touchdown.

Five thousand people saw the game and sat on the edge of their seats as the teams battled through, waiting for a single break that would decide the outcome of the game.

Relays of horses were ready at Fairfax courthouse, a farmhouse near Bull Run and Buckland, going and returning.

"Bud" SPRAGUE

CAPTAIN AND TACKLE ON THE ARMY FOOTBALL TEAM

By QUIN HALL
YALE and the Army hook up this afternoon in one of the important games of the 1928 season. Last year Eli trimmed the West Pointers, 10-6, and it was the only setback suffered by the Cadets during a rather long season that was well sprinkled with some keen opposition. This year despite the loss of Wilson, Dorn, Harbold and a few others who made the 1927 team almost unbeatable, Biff Jones is confident that the Army will again finish well up in front.

The loss of Dorn and Harbold, the two ends who dazzled on last year's team, is keenly felt at the Point and early in the season the development of two players to follow in the footsteps of the crack wing-men was one of the big problems confronting Biff Jones and Captain Sasse, the end coach up where the Hudson slashes against the granite base of Storm King. But Messinger, a rangy player, has apparently helped solve the problem at one flank and Jones and Sasse have other end timber on which to depend.

Bud Sprague, the sandy-haired big boy from Texas, is captaining the team this year from left tackle and he seems to be functioning in one piece despite injuries which handicapped him most of last season. The Army line is being built up around Bud and Perry, the right tackle and a Kentuckian. It will be recalled that twice last year Perry put his big frame between Navy ball carriers and the Army goal line. Perry's work made him a member of many of the All-American elevens last year and in the early games this fall he has been responsible for breaking up a lot of carefully planned plays.

From tackle to tackle Jones has a solid wall which is apt to withstand the ramming of the opposition. They're all big rugged fellows and Biff has been devoting much of his time to building up his reserve or secondary defense.

In the backfield Jones has little to worry about, even in the face of being forced to get along without the services of Harry Wilson who had grown to mean to the Army what corned beef means to cabbage.

Jones and the Army still have Christian Cagle, the red-headed tornado whose undulating hips would drive a South Sea hula-hula dancer to an early death. Cagle will undoubtedly bear the brunt of the heavy ground gaining and once free of the forward wall, the red head can wiggle his hips past a lot of tacklers. Watch Cagle on the open field running this fall.

When it comes to smashing the line Jones has Murrell, the burly line station, who was responsible for cracking the Navy wall so consistently last fall. Young Nave will do most of the quarterbacking for the Army and from a long list of capable players Biff will select a few men to fill in and again have a typical Army backfield.

After today's struggle with Yale at New Haven, the Army still has a men-sized schedule to fulfill. Beside meeting De Pauw and Carleton the Cadets are scheduled to train their guns against such worth while foes as Nebraska, Notre Dame and Stanford. Those three games alone look like a fairly heavy schedule.

The Nebraska tilt will be decided at West Point with the game against the Irish and the Pacific Coast aggregation both slated to be decided in New York City. The West Pointers beat Notre Dame last year but there is little dare on the comparative strength of the Army against either Nebraska or Stanford.

The Stanford struggle is to be put on December 1 which is rather the far end of the playing season but the new fuss with the West Coast is already attracting considerable attention and it's a cinch a lot of radios will be tuned in on the meeting.

The Sprague-captained, Jones-coached Army eleven has placed a bunch of chores yet to be done.

On the Trail of Glennon

By JANET BROWN

"WHAT do you think of Mr. Brown?" Dorothy True asked with an effort to appear casual in her interest. Dorothy was the younger of the two pretty True girls.

"Oh, I think he is tallish and broad shouldered, with a taste for gray tweed and green neckties and—" answered Alicia.

"Piffle," ejaculated Dorothy, and then, "What's the use!"

With that the younger sister took a folded paper that she had been sitting on from its hiding place, and threw it in the fire.

Mr. Brown was the young man whom they had recently met at a dance in town, and who had been coming out from the city to the True home with considerable frequency ever since.

In the paper that was now blazing up the chimney was an account of a culprit whose real name was Glennon, but who went by a half dozen or so aliases. The paper had described Glennon as a professional heart-breaker. He was now wanted by the police for having made way with $500 that he had "borrowed" from a young woman in the city.

"The young man is fairly tall, well built and of singularly fascinating appearance and manner—or at least this is the opinion of the young women who will appear against him." That is what the paper said.

The night after Dorothy's discovery she lay awake for many hours making plans that were deep and full of concern for Alicia. The important thing was not only to protect Alicia, from falling deeply in love with the culprit—if this were possible—but to get sufficient evidence against him to make it possible to aid in securing his arrest.

This could be done, Dorothy decided, by getting him to transfer his attentions from Alicia to herself. If Alicia felt that it was Dorothy instead of herself for whom he cared she was not the sort of sister who would interfere. So Dorothy decided to make it appear that Glennon, alias for the time John Brown, was really her admirer.

Mr. Brown called the next evening. It appeared that Alicia or Mrs. True had asked him to dinner. Unfortunately for her plans, thought Dorothy, she had not been told of Mr. Brown's expected presence or she would have changed into her most becoming home evening frock. As it was, she came in from the country club after he had arrived and had to appear at dinner still in her boyish sports clothes. She determined, however, to let her charm and sprightliness of manner make up for the lack of winsome dinner clothes.

Dorothy realized that she was in a measure succeeding even before dinner was over. When the evening in the True drawing room was half spent Dorothy was a little surprised when the fascinating Mr. Brown made his way to her side and said, sotto voce, "Suppose you come out for a little run in the country. I brought my car tonight—there's a fine moon. Do you think your mother would have any objection?"

It was easily arranged with Mrs. True, and Dorothy went to her room for her cape. "Alicia," Dorothy heard, the alleged Mr. Brown say as she was going upstairs, "I want to ask a favor of you. I'm sorry, but could you let me have a five-spot till tomorrow? I left my wallet in the office and I may run out of gasoline. Don't let Dorothy know I'm such a piker."

Assuredly the plot was thickening. Dorothy seized her cape in her room, and paused just long enough to take an old revolver from its hiding place in her dressing table drawer. To be sure it was unloaded, and it was of ancient make. She had found it in the attic. Two blocks away from the True house the alleged Mr. Brown took a hand from the wheel, groped for one of Dorothy's and found it.

"Dorothy, dear," the villain said, "I have felt sure until tonight that you hadn't given me a thought. But tonight you have seemed just a little kinder. Dorothy, dear—" The car stopped under the shade of an old elm, and Dorothy felt two strong arms about her. She turned her face away, but she felt a kiss.

Then a car showed its searchlights ahead. "I think we'd better go to the garage, if you don't object," he said. "I'm almost out of gas."

"To the garage!" Dorothy mocked, feeling for her funny old revolver and then flourishing it. "To the police station, you mean."

Mr. Brown seemed not in the least afraid. For he backed his car to the shade of the elm tree again, waited till the car was behind them and then crushing Dorothy and her poor old revolver in his arms, demanded an explanation. He had never even heard of Glennon.

Then they went to the garage and then back to the True house. Twenty minutes before, when they had just left the house Mr. True had commented to Mrs. True: "Seems as if our little Dorothy is rather shining up to Brown."

PLACING YOUR X ON THE BALLOT

In Friday evening's "League of Women Voter's Column," voters were told that if they placed a cross mark after the Hoover electors, their vote would be counted for the republican candidate, and the same mark after the Smith electors would be counted for the democratic candidate. Although the statement should have read an X, instead of a cross, if that advice were followed, the ballot would not be thrown out, providing the voter used the same mark for each candidate (see par. 7 of Art.

454 of 1928 edition of Minnesota Election Laws). The intention of the voter is what is sought in counting ballots and, if that is clear, a ballot will not be placed among the "defective" ballots.

Several have asked the question: "If I spoil my ballot, what can I do?" Take the spoiled ballot back and get another. You will not be given a second ballot, however, until you have returned the torn or defaced ballot. If you spoil a second ballot, you will be obliged to swear that you can read English before you will receive a third ballot. The fourth is the last that you may receive. But if you are fearful of this new experience or liable to become confused and place indelible Xs in the wrong places, just cut a sample ballot out of the paper, or secure one from the League of Women Voters (call Mrs. Rose Parker, tel. no. 188) and practice marking it with an ordinary pencil so that mistakes can be erased until you are sure that you have voted for the candidates of your choice and then take this sample ballot into the booth with you, and copy it. According to article 423 of the election laws above quoted, this is permissible and it would certainly expedite voting.

Another thing that new voters should be warned against is telling any one within the polling place the name of any candidate for whom he intends to vote or for whom he has voted, or showing his ballot. The judges shall refuse to receive such a ballot and, unless they are convinced that the voter disclosed his vote because of ignorance of the law, "no other ballot shall be delivered to such voter."

All these precautions are taken in order to prevent undue influence being exerted upon the voter—in order that each vote as he or she pleases and not as some one else is pleased to have him vote. The secrecy of the vote is so carefully guarded that if a voter signs his name to his ballot or discloses his identity in any way, his ballot is not counted.

On the Trail of Glennon

By JANET BROWN

(Copyright.)

"WHAT do you think of Mr. Brown?" Dorothy True asked with an effort to appear casual in her interest. Dorothy was the younger of the two pretty True girls.

"Oh, I think he is tallish and broad shouldered, with a taste for gray tweed and green neckties and—" answered Alicia.

"Piffle," ejaculated Dorothy, and then, "What's the use?"

With that the younger sister took a folded paper that she had been sitting on from its hiding place, and threw it in the fire.

Mr. Brown was the young man whom they had recently met at a dance in town, and who had been coming out from the city to the True home with considerable frequency ever since.

In the paper that was now blazing up the chimney was an account of a culprit whose real name was Glennon, but who went by a half dozen or so aliases. The paper had described Glennon as a professional heart-breaker. He was now wanted by the police for having made way with $500 that he had "borrowed" from a young woman in the city.

"The young man is fairly tall, well built and of singularly fascinating appearance and manner—or at least this is the opinion of the young women who will appear against him." That is what the paper said.

The night after Dorothy's discovery she lay awake for many hours making plans that were deep and full of concern for Alicia. The important thing was not only to protect Alicia from falling deeply in love with the culprit—if this were possible—but to get sufficient evidence against him to make it possible to aid in securing his arrest.

This could be done, Dorothy decided, by getting him to transfer his attentions from Alicia to herself. If Alicia felt that it was Dorothy instead of herself for whom he cared she was not the sort of sister who would interfere. So Dorothy decided to make it appear that Glennon, alias for the time John Brown, was really her admirer.

Mr. Brown called the next evening. It appeared that Alicia or Mrs. True had asked him to dinner. Unfortunately for her plans, thought Dorothy, she had not been told of Mr. Brown's expected presence or she would have changed into her most becoming home evening frock. As it was, she came in from the country club after he had arrived and had to appear at dinner still in her boyish sports clothes. She determined, however, to let her charm and sprightliness of manner make up for the lack of winsome dinner clothes.

Dorothy realized that she was in a measure succeeding even before dinner was over. When the evening in the True drawing room was half spent Dorothy was a little surprised when the fascinating Mr. Brown made his way to her side and said, sotto voce, "Suppose you come out for a little run in the country. I brought my car tonight—there's a fine moon. Do you think your mother would have any objection?"

It was easily arranged with Mrs. True, and Dorothy went to her room for her cape. "Alicia," Dorothy heard, the alleged Mr. Brown say as she was going upstairs, "I want to ask a favor of you. I'm sorry, but could you let me have a five-spot till tomorrow? I left my wallet in the office and I may run out of gasoline. Don't let Dorothy know I'm such a piker."

Assuredly the plot was thickening. Dorothy seized her cape in her room and paused just long enough to take an old revolver from its hiding place in her dressing table drawer. To be sure it was unloaded, and it was of ancient make. She had found it in the attic. Two blocks away from the True house the alleged Mr. Brown took a hand from the wheel, groped for one of Dorothy's and found it.

"Dorothy, dear," the villain said, "I have felt sure until tonight that you hadn't given me a thought. But tonight you have seemed just a little kinder. Dorothy, dear—" The car stopped under the shade of an old elm, and Dorothy felt two strong arms about her. She turned her face away, but she felt a kiss.

Then a car showed its searchlights ahead. "I think we'd better go to the garage, if you don't object," he said. "I'm almost out of gas."

"To the garage!" Dorothy mocked, feeling for her funny old revolver and then flourishing it. "To the police station, you mean."

Mr. Brown seemed not in the least afraid. For he backed his car to the shade of the elm tree again, waited till the car was behind them and then crushing Dorothy and her poor old revolver in his arms, demanded an explanation. He had never even heard of Glennon.

Then they went to the garage and then back to the True house. Twenty minutes before, when they had just left the house Mr. True had commented to Mrs. True: "Seems as if our little Dorothy is rather shining up to Brown."

"Yes, I know Dorothy is interested in him," smiled Alicia. "Poor child, she thinks he is quite fascinating. Love surely is blind."

So no one was very much surprised when Dorothy and John Brown returned, asking the family's blessing on their plighted troth.

PLACING YOUR X ON THE BALLOT

In Friday evening's "League of Women Voter's Column," voters were told that if they placed a cross mark after the Hoover electors, their vote would be counted for the republican candidate, and the same mark after the Smith electors would be counted for the democratic candidate. Although the statement should have read an X, instead of a cross, if that advice were followed, the ballot would not be thrown out, providing the voter used the same mark for each candidate (see par. 7 of Art.

454 of 1928 edition of Minnesota Election Laws). The intention of the voter is what is sought in counting ballots and, if that is clear, a ballot will not be placed among the "defective" ballots.

Several have asked the question: "If I spoil my ballot, what can I do?" Take the spoiled ballot back and get another. You will not be given a second ballot, however, until you have returned the torn or defaced ballot. If you spoil a second ballot, you will be obliged to swear that you can read English before you will receive a third ballot. The fourth is the last that you may receive. But if you are fearful of this new experience or liable to become confused and place indelible Xs in the wrong places, just cut a sample ballot out of the paper, or secure one from the League of Women Voters (call Mrs. Rose Parker, tel. no. 188) and practice marking it with an ordinary pencil so that mistakes can be erased until you are sure that you have voted for the candidates of your choice and then take this sample ballot into the booth with you, and copy it. According to article 423 of the election laws above quoted, this is permissible and it would certainly expedite voting.

Another thing that new voters should be warned against is telling any one within the polling place the name of any candidate for whom he intends to vote or for whom he has voted, or showing his ballot. The judges shall refuse to receive such a ballot and, unless they are convinced that the voter disclosed his vote because of ignorance of the law, "no other ballot shall be delivered to such voter."

WITCHES COMING ON HALLOWE'EN

Devils, Ghosts, and Goblins to France Through Brainerd on Eventful Night

FAIRIES WILL CARNIVAL

Traditions Lend Spirit of Mystery, Mirth and Happiness to Those Celebrating

By MISS ISLAY McCOLL

The witches are coming. Watch out—watch out!

According to the traditions of the west of Scotland, it was on Halloween, or All Saints' Night, that witches, devils, ghosts and goblins were abroad on baneful midnight errands. The custom of gathering 'round a bonfire in the open, or the family fireplace, is a survival of the ancient practice of kindling sacred fires at certain seasons of the year.

The festival was also known as Beltane, or Beltein, a compound name, from bel or beal, the Celtic god of light, and tin or teine, meaning fire. The night is big with prophecy to the Scottish peasantry. And in England, Ireland and America too, those who have Celtic blood in their veins (and many who haven't) observe in various ways the date of October 31, or to be exact, the eve of November 1.

The fairies hold high carnival at Halloween, taking an active interest in the affairs of humans. During this festival they are said to be unusually active and unusually propitious. And since the passion of prying into the future is common to human nature, we eagerly embrace the opportunity to invoke the aid of the supernatural.

If you would look upon the face of your future wife or husband, take a candle, and go alone to a looking-glass. Hold the lighted candle high above your head, and slowly eat an apple. If done at the hour of midnight on Halloween, the face of one's conjugal companion, to be, is said to appear in the glass, as if peeping over one's shoulder.

On this fateful night the fairies bring to their favorites good luck and answer their greatest wish. An apple-peel, peeled in one continuous strip, and thrown over the right shoulder, is arranged by them into the initials of the loved one, so 'tis said.

The fairies, elves and goblins have been the subject of the poets. Shakespeare, Spenser, Milton, Tennyson, Pope, and our own Washington Irving, have woven into their writings the pranks and mirth, and benefactions of the "wee folk, the good folk;" but Robert Burns has immortalized the fun and frolic of Halloween in his famous poem, "Halloween," in which many of the charms and spells associated with All Saints' Night are quaintly set forth.

Few there are who can read Burns understandingly without a glossary; but the effort of reading him is well rewarded, for his words and phrases have a flavor like fresh bread and wild honey—the pungency of burning peat.

"Some merry, friendly country folks Together did convene, To burn their nits, and pu' their stocks, An' haud their Halloween."

Fu' blythe that night, Burning the nuts is a favorite charm. Take two chestnuts and name one for a girl and one for a boy, then lay them in the fire. If they burn quietly side by side, the courtship will be smooth, and end in marriage. If they start from beside each other, the outcome is doubtful. Burns thus describes the procedure: "The auld guidwife's weel-hoorded nits

Are round an' round divided; An' mony lads and lasses' fates Are there that night decided: Some kinde, couthie, side by side, An' burn thegither trimly; Some start awa wi' sancy pride, An' jump out-owre the chimlie."

Fu' high that night, Bobbing for apples in a tub of water is another time-honored pastime of Halloween; but Burns tells of a little known charm, that of dipping the left sleeve in a south-running spring. The Scottish dialect is as broad as a baking board, as the beloved Burns tells of one "want on widow Leezie," who fared forth in the dark to the "burn," or stream, to follow the custom of dipping her left "sark-sleeve" in its waters, for good luck. But she got a "fearfu' settlin'" For "between her an' the moon," some goblin or "deil," (devil) "Gat up an' gae acroon," which scared poor Leezie so she fell into the pool!

So the good spirits are not the only ones abroad on Halloween. Old Nick and his crew of mischief makers play their impish pranks over the land, scaring honest folks into fits (and pools!). They pry doors from their sturdy hinges; lift wagons with remarkable ease to the topmost peak of the barn; set askew or overturn certain landmarks, the passing of which from general use James Whitcomb Riley humorously describes in a privately published poem. Jack O'Lantern and his band of grinning henchmen play out-landish tricks on all who venture forth; leer through unshaded windows; while ghostly ingers, tap-tap on the bright window-panes.

But fear not! "With merry songs and friendly cracks" those who gather to celebrate Halloween outwit the roving spirits. Just as did the friendly folks of west Scotland, we assemble, with "unco tales, an' funnie jokes," to make merry with the simple pleasures of the past.

With mock solemnity we go through the customs of Halloween. Yet when the apple-peel so lightly tossed over the shoulder does take on the semblance of the loved one's initial, we have a sneaking feeling that there may be something to it, after all!

And when the "tick-tack-two" rattles against the darkening window, for just a second it does sound kind o' like bony fingers of some lonely skeleton abroad in the weird light of an Autumn moon. But as for me, I don't wish to brag or boast, but I ain't 'fraid o' any ghosts; "Whoo-ee!" (W-hat w-was that?)

MILLINERY WORK SAVES $820.02

Achievement Day Records Success in Work Carried on for Past Five Months

350 WOMEN ATTEND

Lucky 13 and Lucky Lindy Clubs Have 100 Per Cent Attendance of Members

Achievement Day for Crow Wing county women or final checkup day on the millinery project conducted during the past five months under the direction of Miss Evis Whitfield, state millinery specialist and County Agent E. G. Roth was brought to a successful close yesterday afternoon in the farmers room of the court house when it was announced after all reports were in that the project had meant a saving to county women in millinery for the past five months of $820.02.

The complete report of the work further showed that 167 hats were made, 143 hats remodelled, a total of 2,251 new practices adopted, and 1,451 homes reached which is 38 per cent of the total of farm homes in the county.

Attendance at yesterday's gathering exceeded expectation. A check showed that 350 women were present.

At a meeting of the leaders immediately following the program, Mrs. Anton Claus of Fort Ripley was elected county home chairman. The different groups expressed the desire to start another project next year and voted to take the home management course as first choice and nutrition as second choice.

The program in the afternoon consisted of community singing, a welcome talk by Mrs. Edward Nelson, county chairman, a play by the Lucky Lindy club, talk by County Agent E. G. Roth, monologue by Mrs. Mazie Wunderlich, and a demonstration by Miss Evis Whitfield, state specialist.

The Lucky 13 and Lucky Lindy clubs carried off honors in attendance. Each had a 100 per cent turnout of members. Each club was awarded a box of candy.

Low Cody, "Man-about-town," While Aileen Pringle Plays "Understanding" Role

Low Cody and Aileen Pringle renew their screen partnership in "Beau Broadway," coming to the Lyceum theatre Sunday only, the first of a new series of comedy-dramas in which this inimitable team are to be co-starred by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

In their new film triumph the superb cinema farceurs reach new heights and bring to the screen a sparkling story that glitters with the high spots of the New York sporting world.

FOREST FIRE LOSS HEAVIER IN 1928

Grover N. Conzet Says Loss Will be Greater Than 1927; Checkup Being Made

NEW LOOKOUT TOWERS IN

Believes Use of Airplanes in Detecting and Fighting Fires in State Impractical

Declaring that fire loss in timber lands of Minnesota would be greater this year than last year, Grover N. Conzet, state commissioner of forestry and fire prevention on his visit to the district forestry office here today outlined the progress made in the construction of lookout towers that will greatly aid in the lowering of loss by fires in future years.

Thirty two new towers were put in throughout the state this year with 12 now under construction, Mr. Conzet said. At the present time there are 55 glassed in towers in the state. These towers are of the most modern in construction and a decided improvement from the former lookout towers, the commissioner said.

Questioned as to possible use of airplanes in locating and fighting fire in the state, Mr. Conzet considered the use of planes in the state impractical.

"Should we need planes to assist in forestry work we could call on the 109th air squadron," he said.

The commissioner stated that a check is at present being made of the total amount of damage by fire in the state this year which would be ready for publication soon.

BOARD COMMITS DAN POLOVICH

Man Who Attacked Two With Knife to be Taken to Fergus Falls

ANSWERS ARE INCOHERENT

Patient Born in Austria is Uneducated; Attended Church Once in 27 Years

The touching case of Dan Polovich, uneducated Austrian, who was shot by a police officer in Ironton recently after he had attacked the officer with a knife, was revealed in the sanity examination, this morning before two physicians and Judge L. B. Kinder.

The patient was committed to Fergus Falls for care and observation.

In high spirits the man told of his life and matters concerning his life which he believed to be true but which are but delusions of his mind.

He grinned when he told his examiners that he had never been to school, that he could not read or write and that he had attended church but once since coming to the United States 27 years ago. He said he was married and was the father of two children who are now living in Austria.

Where do you live, he was questioned.

"Any place," he replied. It was stated by officers that he slept in the woods and walked the streets by night.

Among other illusions the patient was subject to, according to the examination, was the belief that he owned much real estate. He said he owned the Spina hotel and the bank in Ironton and seven houses in Calumet, but said he did not have deeds for any.

It was established that Polovich has worked as laborer in the Mesabi range and had recently been working in the harvest fields of North Dakota. His attack upon a policeman and an officer in Ironton was, the examiners learned, his first outbreak of violence.

USED CARS "with an OK that counts"

Never Before Have We Offered Such Values on Reconditioned Cars —Small Down Payment—Easy Terms!

Never before in our history have we delivered as many new Chevrolets as we have this year. Naturally a large part of this increased business involved the trade-in of the Chevrolet owner's previous car. This enables us to offer some exceptionally fine used cars that have been thoroughly inspected and reconditioned and carry the official red "O. K. That Counts" tag. This tag shows you exactly what has been done to put the car in mechanical condition for thousands of miles of satisfactory service. In buying these reconditioned cars from us you get definite assurance of quality and value—and this week you can buy them at very low prices that make them the greatest values we have ever offered. Make a small down payment and drive away the car of your choice—easy terms for the balance. See these cars today!

FAIRIES WILL CARNIVAL

Traditions Lend Spirit of Mystery, Mirth and Happiness to Those Celebrating

By MISS ISLAY McCOLL

The witches are coming. Watch out—watch out!

According to the traditions of the west of Scotland, it was on Hallowe'en, or All Saints' Night, that witches, devils, ghosts, and goblins were abroad on baneful midnight errands. The custom of gathering 'round a bonfire in the open, or the family fireplace, is a survival of the ancient practice of kindling sacred fires at certain seasons of the year.
The festival was also known as Beltane, or Beltein, a compound name, from bel or beal, the Celtic god of light, and tin or teine, meaning fire.

The night is big with prophecy to the Scottish peasantry. And in England, Ireland and America too, those who have Celtic blood in their veins (and many who haven't) observe in various ways the date of October 31, or to be exact, the eve of November 1.

The fairies hold high carnival at Hallowe'en, taking an active interest in the affairs of humans. During this festival they are said to be unusually active and unusually propitious. And since the passion of prying into the future is common to human nature, we eagerly embrace the opportunity to invoke the aid of the supernatural.

If you would look upon the face of your future wife or husband, take a candle, and go alone to a lookingglass. Hold the lighted candle high above your head, and slowly eat an apple. If done at the hour of midnight on Hallowe'en, the face of one's conjugal companion, to be, is said to appear in the glass, as if peeping over one's shoulder.

On this fateful night the fairies bring to their favorites good luck and answer their greatest wish. An apple-peel, peeled in one continuous strip, and thrown over the right shoulder, is arranged by them into the initials of the loved one, so 'tis said.

The fairies, elves and goblins have ever been the subject of the poets.
Shakespeare, Spenser, Milton, Tenny-son, Pope, and our own Washington Irving, have woven into their writings the pranks and mirth, and benedictions of the "wee folk, the good folk;" but Robert Burns has immortalized the fun and frolic of Hallowe'en in his famous poem, "Hallowe'en," in which many of the charms and spells associated with All Saints' Night are quaintly set forth.

Few there are who can read Burns understandingly without a glossary;
but the effort of reading him is well rewarded, for his words and phrases have a flavor like fresh bread and wild honey—the pungency of burning peat.

"Some merry, friendly country folks
Together did convene,
To burn their nits, and pu' their stocks,

An' haud their Hallowe'en
Fu' blythe that night."

Burning the nuts is a favorite charm. Take two chestnuts and name one for a girl and one for a boy, then lay them in the fire. If they burn quietly side by side, the courtship will be smooth, and end in marriage. If they start from beside each other, the outcome is doubtful.
Burns thus describes the procedure:
"The auld guidwife's weel-hoordet nits.

Are round an' round divided;
An' mony lads and lasses' fates
Are there that night decided:
Some kindle, couthie, side by side,
An' burn thegither trimly;
Some start awa wi' saucy pride,
An' jump out-owre the chimlie

Fu' high that night."
Bobbing for apples in a tub of water is another time-honored pastime of Hallowe'en; but Burns tells of a little known charm, that of dipping the left sleeve in a south-running spring. The Scottish dialect is as broad as a baking board, as the beloved Burns tells of one "want on widow Leezie," who fared forth in the dark to the "burn," or stream, to follow the custom of dipping her left "sark-sleeve" in its waters, for good luck. But she got a "fearfu' seed-tin!" For "between her an' the moon," some goblin or "deil," (devil) "Gat up an' gae acroon," which scared poor Leezie so she fell into the pool!

So the good spirits are not the only ones abroad on Hallowe'en. Old Nick and his crew of mischief makers play their impish pranks over the land, searing honest folks into fits (and pools!). They pry doors from their sturdy hinges; lift wagons with remarkable ease to the topmost peak of the barn; set askew or over-turn certain landmarks; the passing of which from general use James Whitcomb Riley humorously describes in a privately published poem. Jack O'Lantern and his band of grinning henchmen play out-landish tricks on all who venture forth; leer through unshaded windows; while ghostly fingers tap-tap on the bright window-panes.

But fear not! "With merry songs and friendly cracks" those who gather to celebrate Hallowe'en outwit the roving spirits. Just as did the friendly folks of west Scotland, we assemble, with "unco tales, an' funnie jokes," to make merry with the simple pleasures of the past.

With mock solemnity we go through the customs of Hallowe'en.
Yet when the apple-peel so lightly tossed over the shoulder does take on the semblance of the loved one's initial, we have a sneaking feeling that there may be something to it, after all!

And when the "tick-tack-two" rattles against the darkening window, for just a second it does sound kind o' like bony fingers of some lonely skeleton abroad in the weird light of an Autumn moon. But as for me, I don't wish to brag or boast, but I ain't 'fraid o' any ghosts; "Whoo-ee!" (W-hat w-was that?)

Achievement Day Records Success in Work Carried on for Past
Five Months

350 WOMEN ATTEND

Lucky 13 and Lucky Lindy Clubs
Have 100 Per Cent Attendance of Members

Achievement Day for Crow Wing county women or final checkup day on the millinery project conducted during the past five months under the direction of Miss Evis Whitfield, state millinery specialist and County Agent E. G. Roth was brought to a successful close yesterday afternoon in the farmers room of the court house when it was announced after all reports were in that the project had meant a saving to county women in millinery for the past five months of $820.02.

The complete report of the work further showed that 167 hats were made, 143 hats remodelled, a total of 2,251 new practices adopted, and 1,451 homes reached which is 38 per cent of the total of farm homes in the county.

Attendance at yesterday's gathering exceeded expectation. A check showed that 350 women were present.

At a meeting of the leaders immediately following the program, Mrs.
Anton Claus of Fort Ripley was elected county home chairman. The different groups expressed the desire to start another project next year and voted to take the home management course as first choice and nutrition as second choice.

The program in the afternoon consisted of community singing, a welcome talk by Mrs. Edward Nelson, county chairman, a play by the Lucky Lindy club, talk by County Agent E. G. Roth, monologue by Mrs.
Mazie Wunderlich, and a demonstration by Miss Evis Whitfield, state specialist.

The Lucky 13 and Lucky Lindy clubs carried off honors in attendance. Each had a 100 per cent turnout of members. Each club was awarded a box of candy.

FOREST FIRE LOSS HEAVIER IN 1928

Grover N. Conzet Says Loss Will be Greater Than 1927; Checkup
Being Made

NEW LOOKOUT TOWERS IN

Believes Use of Airplanes in Detecting and Fighting Fires in State Impractical

Declaring that fire loss in timber lands of Minnesota would be greater this year than last year, Grover N.
Conzet, state commissioner of forestry and fire prevention on his visit to the district forestry office here today outlined the progress made in the construction of lookout towers that will greatly aid in the lowering of loss by fires in future years.

Thirty two new towers were put in throughout the state this year with 12 now under construction, Mr.
Conzet said. At the present time there are 55 glassed in towers in the state. These towers are of the most modern in construction and a decided improvement from the former lookout towers, the commissioner
said.

Questioned as to possible use of airplanes in locating and fighting fire in the state, Mr. Conzet considered the use of planes in the state impractical.

"Should we need planes to assist in forestry work we could call on the 109th air squadron," he said.

The commissioner stated that a check is at present being made of the total amount of damage by fire in the state this year which would be ready for publication soon.

ENLISTS IN U. S. ARMY AIR CORPS

WINFRED E. ZAWADZKI

Word has been received here that Winfred E. Zawadzki of this city has passed successfully the strict mental and physical and moral tests for the enlistment of the U. S. Army Air Corps in the Philippine department.

The recruiting officer Lieutenant-Colonel Joseph C. Kay speaking of Zawadzki said: "By faithful attention to his duties he should have no difficulty in obtaining advancement as he demonstrates the possession of soldierly qualities."

Zawadzki is only 18 years old. He attended the Lowell school and the high school in Brainerd. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zawadzki,

BOARD COMMITS DAN POLOVICH

Man Who Attacked Two With Knife to be Taken to Fergus Falls

ANSWERS ARE INCOHERENT

Patient Born in Austria is Uneducated; Attended Church
Once in 27 Years

The touching case of Dan Polovich, uneducated Austrian, who was shot by a police officer in Ironton recently after he had attacked the officer with a knife, was revealed in the sanity examination, this morning before two physicians and Judge L. B. Kinder.

The patient was committed to Fergus Falls for care and observation.

In high spirits the man told of his life and matters concerning his life which he believed to be true but which are but delusions of his mind.

He grinned when he told his examiners that he had never been to school, that he could not read or write and that he had attended church but once since coming to the United States 27 years ago. He said he was married and was the father of two children who are now living in Austria.

Where do you live, he was questioned.

"Any place," he replied. It was stated by officers that he slept in the woods and walked the streets by night.

Among other illusions the patient was subject to, according to the examination, was the belief that he owned much real estate. He said he owned the Spina hotel and the bank in Ironton and seven houses in of violence.

Calumet, but said he did not have deeds for any.

It was established that Polovich has worked as laborer in the Mesabi range and had recently been working in the harvest fields of North Dakota. His attack upon a roadside and an officer in Ironton was, the examiners learned, his first outbreak

MAKES CHARGE AGAINST 'RED' GRANGE

Helen Morrissey, holding her baby, of whom she charges in Chicago, Harold ("Red") Grange, Illinois football idol, is the father. Attorney J. J. Gorman, representing the girl here, said: "Grange holds that the case is an out and out attempt to blackmail him. He denies that the child is his or that he knows the child's mother other than that she was an employee of a loop hotel during the time Grange stopped there." Miss Morrissey, who is 22, charges that the child was born seven and a half months ago and declares that she is seeking $1,100 from Grange.

Plays With Rifle, Shoots Baby

Four-year-old Freddy Burger didn't think his father's .22-calibre rifle was loaded when he pointed it at baby sister, Sara, and pulled the trigger. The missile entered child's abdomen and she died later in hospital. The small victim is shown above in arms of her mother, Mrs. F. H. Burger, of Atlanta, Ga., a short time before the accident.

Col. Lindbergh Flies to St. Louis To Register for Hoover Vote, He Telegraphs the Candidate

MR. HOOVER AND COL. LINDBERGH

CALLING the election of Herbert Hoover of supreme importance to the nation, Charles A. Lindbergh wired the Republican candidate as follows:

"I have recently flown to Saint Louis to register. The more I see of this campaign the more strongly I feel that your election is of supreme importance to the country. Your qualities as a man and what you stand for regardless of party make me feel that the problems which will come before our country during the next four years will be best solved under your leadership."

To this telegram Mr. Hoover replied: "I wish to express my deep appreciation of your message. The confidence of men of your character brings both encouragement and inspiration to me."

Republicans and Wages

Real wages and the standards of living of our labor have improved more during the past seven and a half years of Republican rule than during any similar period in the history of this or any other country. — HERBERT HOOVER in a speech at St. Paul.

Hooverism

Examine the experience of Europe and you will find certain weaknesses in their machinery of democracy, upon the rocks of which they have been wrecked. There are lessons for the United States in these wrecks. — Herbert Hoover.
